SCHEDULE

PART 1 – DEFINITIONS

Definitions and interpretation

- 1 (1) In this regulation:
 - “Act” means the Insurance (Vehicle) Act;

“determined employment” means an employment determined by the corporation under section 13 or 14;

“full-time basis”, in respect of employment, means

- (a) an insured is employed at one employment for not less than 28 hours, not including overtime hours, in each week of the year preceding the date of the accident, or
- (b) an insured is employed at one employment
 - (i) for not less than 28 hours per week, not including overtime hours, and
 - (ii) for not less than 2 years with periods of work not less than 8 months in duration and with gaps between periods of work not more than 4 months;

“gross yearly employment income” or “GYEI”, in relation to an insured, means an insured’s gross income as determined under Part 4;

“industrial average wage” means the industrial aggregate average weekly earnings for all employees of British Columbia as published monthly by Statistics Canada or as determined by the corporation under subsection (2);

“maximum yearly insurable income” means the amount determined under section 2 (2) or (3), as applicable;

“part-time basis”, in respect of employment, means an insured is employed for less than 28 hours per week, not including overtime hours;

“temporary basis”, in respect of an insured who is a temporary earner, means the insured is employed but not on a part-time basis or full-time basis.

- (2) The corporation must use the industrial aggregate average weekly earnings for all employees of British Columbia as published monthly by Statistics Canada, except where
 - (a) no such figure is published for a particular month, or
 - (b) after the coming into force of this provision, Statistics Canada uses a new method to determine the industrial aggregate average weekly earnings for all employees for British Columbia for a particular month and the new method results in a change of more than 1% when compared with the former method, in which case the corporation must determine an amount that in its opinion represents the industrial aggregate average weekly earnings for all employees for British Columbia for that month and, under paragraph (b), for each month remaining in that year.

- (3) The class of insureds who meet both of the following descriptions as of the date of the accident is excluded from the meaning of “non-earner” as defined in section 113 of the Act:
 - (a) the insured has not held employment in the 2 years immediately preceding the date of the accident;
 - (b) the corporation is not satisfied that the insured would have held employment in the future had the accident not occurred.

PART 2 – ENTITLEMENT

Entitlement amount and limits

- 2 (1) Subject to this regulation, the income replacement benefit to which an insured is entitled under Division 6 of Part 10 of the Act, is an amount equal to 90% of the insured's net income, determined on a yearly basis in accordance with this regulation.
- (2) The maximum yearly insurable income for the period of May 1, 2021 to March 31, 2022 is $100 000.
- (3) The amount referred to in subsection (2) for the fiscal year beginning on April 1, 2022 and each fiscal year after that is the result obtained by multiplying $100 000 by the ratio between
 - (a) the sum of the industrial average wage for each of the 12 months before October 1 of the year preceding the year for which the amount of the maximum yearly insurable earnings is calculated, and
 - (b) the same sum for each of the 12 months before October 1, 2020.
- (4) For the purpose of subsection (3), the corporation must use the most recent data available from Statistics Canada on January 1 of the year for which the amount under subsection (3) is calculated.
- (5) The amount determined under subsection (3), if it is not a multiple of $500, must be rounded to the next multiple of $500.
- (6) Subject to section 147 of the Act and section 10 of this Part and subsection (7) of this section, the minimum income replacement benefit to which an insured who is a full-time earner or an insured for whom the corporation determines an employment under section 13 of this regulation is entitled is the amount to which the insured would be entitled if the insured's gross yearly employment income were calculated using the minimum wage under the Employment Standards Act and, except in the case of a part-time employment, the insured worked 40 hours per week for 52 weeks of the year.
- (7) The minimum income replacement benefit to which an insured, other than a student or minor, who sustains a catastrophic injury is entitled is an amount determined on the basis of a gross yearly employment income determined on the basis of the industrial average wage.
- (8) Despite anything else in this regulation, an income replacement benefit that is payable to an insured who has sustained a catastrophic injury is payable to the insured beginning on the eighth day after the accident.
- (9) If, but for subsection (7), an insured would be entitled during the first 180 days after the accident to the caregiver benefit under section 152 of the Act and an income replacement benefit under section 133 (1) or 134 (1) (b) of the Act, the insured is entitled to the greater of
 - (a) the benefit determined under subsection (7) of this section, and
 - (b) the caregiver benefit plus the income replacement benefit under 133 (1) or 134 (1) (b) of the Act,

but not to both.

Alternate formula

- 3 (1) In this section, “other disability compensation” means other compensation within the meaning of section 122 of the Act, but only from the sources prescribed by section 18 (2) (c) or (3) of the Enhanced Accident Benefits Regulation.
- (2) Despite section 2 (1) but subject to this regulation, an insured who is entitled to an income replacement benefit based on the formula in section 2 (1) is entitled to the greater of
- (a) an income replacement benefit determined under this regulation other than this section, and
 - (b) an income replacement benefit determined under subsection (3) of this section
- but not to both.
- (3) The amount of the income replacement benefit referred to in subsection (1) (b) is the lesser of
- (a) $740 per week, and
 - (b) an amount per week calculated as follows:
- $$[(.75 \times Y)/W] - \text{ODC}$$
- where
- Y = the insured’s gross earnings for the 12-month period immediately preceding the accident;
 - W = the number of weeks and fractions of weeks actually worked by the insured during that period;
 - ODC = the other disability compensation.
- (4) An insured’s gross earnings for the purposes of subsection (3) (b) may not be more than the maximum yearly insurable income.

Full-time earners

- 4 (1) The income replacement benefit to which a full-time earner is entitled under section 131 (1) (a) or (b) of the Act is to be determined on the basis of the following:
- (a) the full-time earner’s gross yearly employment income from the employment, if the full-time earner was a salaried worker at the time of the accident;
 - (b) the greater of the following, if the full-time earner was self-employed at the time of the accident:
 - (i) the gross yearly employment income for an employment of the same class of employment as set out in Table 1 in the Schedule;
 - (ii) the gross yearly employment income from the full-time earner’s employment;

- (c) the full-time earner's gross yearly employment income from all employments that the full-time earner is unable to continue because of the accident, if the full-time earner held more than one employment at the time of the accident.
- (2) The income replacement benefit to which a full-time earner is entitled under section 131 (1) (c) of the Act is the amount of the benefit to which the full-time earner would have been paid under the Employment Insurance Act (Canada).
- (3) If a full-time earner is entitled to a benefit referred to in subsection (2), the amount of that benefit must be included in the full-time earner's gross yearly employment income.

Temporary earners and part-time earners – first 180 days

- 5
- (1) The income replacement benefit to which a temporary earner or a part-time earner is entitled under section 133 (1) (a) of the Act is, during the first 180 days after the accident, to be determined on the basis of the following:
 - (a) the gross yearly employment income that the temporary earner or part-time earner earned or would have earned from the employment, if the temporary earner or part-time earner holds or would have held employment as a salaried worker at the time of the accident;
 - (b) the greater of the following, if the temporary earner or part-time earner was self employed at the time of the accident:
 - (i) the gross yearly employment income for an employment of the same class of employment as set out in Table 1 in the Schedule;
 - (ii) the gross yearly employment income that the temporary earner or part-time earner earned or would have earned from the employment.
 - (c) if the temporary earner or part-time earner holds or would have held more than one employment at the time of the accident, the gross yearly employment income the temporary earner or part-time earner earned or would have earned from all employment that the temporary earner or part-time earner is unable to continue because of the accident.
 - (2) The income replacement benefit to which a temporary earner or part-time earner is entitled under section 133 (1) (b) of the Act, during the first 180 days after the accident, is the amount of the benefit to which the temporary earner or part-time earner would have been paid under the Employment Insurance Act (Canada).
 - (3) If a temporary earner or part-time earner is also entitled to a benefit referred to in subsection (2), the amount of that benefit must be included in the temporary earner's or part-time earner's gross yearly employment income.

Temporary earners and part-time earners – after 180 days

- 6
- (1) For the purposes of section 133 (1) (a) of the Act, from the 181st day after the accident, the corporation must, under section 13 of this regulation, determine an employment for the temporary earner or part-time earner, and the temporary earner or part-time earner, if unable to hold the determined employment because of the bodily injury, is entitled to an income replacement benefit.

- (2) If the temporary earner or part-time earner held more than one employment at the time of the accident, the corporation must determine only one employment for the insured under section 13.
- (3) The minimum income replacement benefit to which a temporary earner or part-time earner is entitled from the 181st day after the accident is the amount the temporary earner or part-time earner received during the first 180 days after the accident.
- (4) A person who, under section 152 (4) of the Act, elects to continue to receive a caregiver benefit is not entitled to continue to receive an income replacement benefit under this section.

Non-earners – first 180 days

- 7 (1) The income replacement benefit to which a non-earner is entitled under section 134 (1) (a) of the Act, during the first 180 days after the accident, is to be determined on the basis of the gross yearly employment income from the employment the non-earner would have held in the first 180 days after the accident if the accident had not occurred.
- (2) The income replacement benefit to which a non-earner is entitled under section 134 (1) (b) of the Act, during the first 180 days after the accident, is the amount of the benefit to which the non-earner would have been paid under the Employment Insurance Act (Canada).
- (3) If a non-earner referred to in subsection (1) was also entitled to a benefit referred to in subsection (2), the amount of that benefit must be included in the non-earner's gross yearly employment income.

Non-earner – after 180 days

- 8 (1) For the purposes of section 134 (1) (a) of the Act, from the 181st day after the accident, the corporation must, under section 13 of this regulation, determine an employment for the non-earner, and the non-earner, if unable to hold the determined employment because of the bodily injury, is entitled to an income replacement benefit.
- (2) The minimum income replacement benefit to which a non-earner is entitled from the 181st day after the accident is the amount the non-earner received during the first 180 days after the accident.
- (3) A person who, under section 152 (4) of the Act, elects to continue to receive a caregiver benefit is not entitled to continue to receive an income replacement benefit under this section.

Entitlement to income replacement benefits after relapse

- 9 (1) If an insured sustains a relapse of the bodily injury within 2 years

- (a) after the end of the last period for which the insured received an income replacement benefit, other than an income replacement benefit under section 10 of this regulation or section 147 of the Act, or
- (b) if the insured was not entitled to an income replacement benefit before the relapse, after the date of the accident, the insured is entitled to an income replacement benefit from the date of the relapse as though the insured had been entitled to an income replacement benefit from the date of the accident to the date of the relapse.

- (2) The insured is entitled to an income replacement benefit under subsection (1) calculated on the basis of the greater of
 - (a) the gross yearly employment income used by the corporation immediately before the end of the period referred to in the subsection (1) (a), and
 - (b) the gross yearly employment income of the insured at the time of the relapse.
- (3) An insured who sustains a relapse more than 2 years after an applicable time referred to in subsection (1) is entitled to an income replacement benefit determined as if the relapse were a second accident.
- (4) Subsections (1) to (3) do not apply to a person who sustains a catastrophic injury.
- (5) An insured who sustains a catastrophic injury and whose income replacement benefit is suspended because the insured holds
 - (a) the employment that the insured held at the time of the accident,
 - (b) other employment from which the insured earns a gross income that is equal to or greater than the gross yearly employment income that the insured earned from employment held at the time of the accident,
 - (c) an employment determined for the insured under section 13, or
 - (d) an employment from which the insured earns a gross yearly employment income that is equal to or greater than the gross income on the basis of which the insured's income replacement benefit is calculated

 - (e) the insured is entitled to a retirement income benefit under section 150 of the Act, or
 - (f) the insured dies.
- (6) The corporation must calculate an income replacement benefit under subsection (5) on the basis of the greater of
 - (a) the income replacement benefit the insured received immediately prior to its suspension, indexed to the date of the relapse or the date the employment ceased, and
 - (b) the gross yearly employment income of the insured at the time the relapse occurred or the employment ceased.

- (7) An insured who is receiving an income replacement benefit other than a benefit referred to in section 146 (2) or 147 of the Act or section 10 of this regulation and who becomes entitled to an income replacement benefit under this section, is entitled to whichever income replacement benefit is greater, but not both.

Income replacement benefit for reduced income from determined employment

- 10 (1) If an insured becomes able to hold employment determined for the insured under section 14, but because of the insured's bodily injury earns from the employment a gross yearly employment income that is less than the gross yearly employment income used by the corporation to calculate the income replacement benefit that the insured was receiving before the employment was determined, the insured is entitled, after the end of one year from the date the insured became able to hold the determined employment, to an income replacement benefit that is the lesser of the following:
- (a) the difference between the income replacement benefit the insured was receiving before the employment was determined under section 14 and the net income from the determined employment as calculated under this regulation;
 - (b) the difference between the income replacement benefit the insured was receiving before the employment was determined under section 14 and the net income the insured earns from employment.
- (2) Section 147 of the Act does not apply respecting an insured if subsection (1) of this section applies respecting the insured.

- (5) If the insured did not hold employment on a full-time basis in the 2 years before the accident and the corporation is not satisfied that the insured would have, had the accident not occurred, held employment on a full-time basis in the future, the corporation must determine employment for the insured under this section on a part-time basis.

 - (b) the sum of
 - (i) 1, and
 - (ii) the annual percentage change in the British Columbia consumer price index, as determined under subsection (4) and rounded to the nearest 1/10 of a percentage point.

PART 8 – INCOME REPLACEMENT BENEFITS – GENERAL

Division 1 – Income Adjustments

Definition

- 38 In this Division, “reference period” means a maximum of the 60 months immediately before the date of the accident.

Adjustments under sections 20 to 25

- 39 (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (5), an adjustment for the purposes of sections 20 to 25 is based on the insured’s ratio of presence at work during the reference period, and is the greatest of the following:
- (a) the number of months the insured held employment in the 12-month period preceding the date of the accident divided by 12;
 - (b) the number of months the insured held employment in the 60-month period preceding the date of the accident divided by 60;
 - (c) the sum of the number of months that the insured held employment in each consecutive 12 month period preceding the date of the accident in which the insured held employment, to a maximum of five such periods, divided by the product resulting from multiplying the number of such periods by 12.
- (2) The divisors in subsection (1) (a) to (c) must be reduced by the number of months in those periods in which the insured was a minor or student or not capable of holding employment.
- (3) For the purpose of calculating an insured’s ratio of presence at work, a month in which a period of employment begins or ends is to be considered to be a complete month of presence at work.
- (4) For the purposes of sections 20 to 25, the adjusted gross yearly employment income of an insured referred to in those sections is the greater of the following:
- (a) the amount determined by the formula:
$$A \times B$$
where
 - A = the gross yearly employment income determined under the base rule and indexing as applicable under Division 2 before any adjustment under this Division;
 - B = the ratio determined under subsection (1).
 - (b) the minimum wage established under the Employment Standards Act determined, except in the case of a part-time employment, on the basis of 40 hours of work per week.
- (5) For the purposes of sections 20 to 25, the corporation must not make an adjustment when the insured, at the time of the accident, had been unemployed for less than 12 consecutive months or had held a temporary or part-time employment for less than 12 consecutive months, and held full-time employment for the balance of the period used as a divisor in subsection (1) (b) less 12.

Division 2 – Indexation

Indexation for sections 22 and 23

- 40 For the purposes of indexing a gross yearly employment income under section 22 or 23, the indexation must be determined in accordance with the following formula:

$$C \times D = \text{Unadjusted Gross Yearly Employment Income}$$

where

- C = the gross yearly employment income as determined under sections 22 or 23 before indexation under this Division and adjustment under Division 1;
- D = the ratio of the industrial average wage for the year of the accident to the industrial average wage for the terminating year of the determined employment under section 11.

Division 3 – Classes of Employment

Definition

- 41 In this Division, “Table 1” means Table 1 in the Schedule.

Determination of level of experience

- 42 (1) When using Table 1 as required by this regulation, the corporation must determine the level of experience that the insured has in the class of employment determined for the insured, as follows:
- (a) “Level 1” means less than 36 months of experience;
 - (b) “Level 2” means 36 months or more but less than 120 months of experience;
 - (c) “Level 3” means 120 months or more of experience.
- (2) For the purposes of calculating the number of months of experience under subsection (1), a month in which an employment begins or ends is to be considered to be a complete month of experience.

Indexing formula

- 43 (1) The corporation must, for the fiscal year beginning on April 1, 2022 and for each fiscal year after that, adjust the gross yearly employment income of each of the employments corresponding to the NOC code in column 1 in Table 1 having a 1-character code by an amount obtained by multiplying the gross yearly employment income by an indexing factor obtained as follows:

$$\text{index factor} = \frac{\text{average AWW of the current 5 year period}}{\text{average AWW of the previous 5 year period}}$$

where

- AWW = the average weekly wages of the employments, as given in the Labour Force Survey for British Columbia published by Statistics Canada each year, corresponding to the NOC code in column 1 in table 1 having a 1-character code;

current = the most recent five calendar years completed before April 1 of the 5-year year for which the indexing factor is computed;
period

previous = the next to last 5-year period, where the fifth year is the calendar year
5-year completed before April 1 of the year for which the indexing factor is period computed, minus one year.

- (2) The corporation must, for the fiscal year beginning on April 1, 2022 and for each fiscal year after that, adjust the gross yearly employment income of each of the employments corresponding to the NOC code in column 1 in Table 1 having a 2-character code by an amount obtained by multiplying the gross yearly employment income by an indexing factor obtained as follows:

$$\text{index factor} = \frac{\text{average AWW of the current 5 year period}}{\text{average AWW of the previous 5 year period}}$$

where

AWW = the average weekly wages of the employments, as given in the Labour Force Survey for British Columbia published by Statistics Canada each year, corresponding to the NOC code in column 1 in Table 1 having a 2-character code;

current = the most recent five calendar years completed before April 1 of the 5-year year for which the indexing factor is computed;
period

previous = the next to last 5-year period, where the fifth year is the calendar year
5-year completed before April 1 of the year for which the indexing factor is
period computed, minus one year.

- (3) The index factor determined under subsection (2) applies to the employments corresponding to the NOC code in column 1 in Table 1 having a 3- or 4-character code where the first 2 characters are the same as in subsection (2).
- (4) In a year in which Statistics Canada fails to publish a new Labour Force Survey for British Columbia, the corporation may revise and adjust the AWW levels set out in the table in accordance with any statistical index or other publication that provides information similar to, or comparable with, that provided by the Labour Force Survey.

If employment not listed in table

- 44 If an employment is not listed in Table 1, or where the table does not give an income for the employment, the corporation may determine an income for that employment using the National Occupational Classification and Table 1 as a guide.

Census data used to update income levels

- 45 On April 1 immediately following the publication of a new census by Statistics Canada, the corporation must revise and adjust the income levels set out in Table 1 to reflect the income levels set out in the new census.

- (a) an employment corresponds to an occupational classification designated by the code in the column headed “NOC CODE” of column 2 of the table;
 - (b) “n.e.c.” means not elsewhere classified;
 - (c) the dollar figures are for full-time work for a full year, where full-time work means the average hours worked (“AHW”) determined under Division 4 of this Part for the occupational classification to which the insured’s employment belongs.
- (2) An income level in the table falling below the minimum wage established under the Employment Standards Act must be adjusted up to the minimum wage established under that Act.

- (3) In Table 2, “n.e.c.” means not elsewhere classified.

Updates of AHW

- 48 The corporation must, for the fiscal year beginning on April 1, 2022 and for each fiscal year after that, replace the AHW of each occupation in Table 2 by an AHW figure calculated as follows:

$$\text{AHW} = \frac{\text{sum of the AUHW in each year of the current 5-year period}}{5}$$

where

- AUHW = the average usual full-time weekly hours worked by each occupation in Table 2 given in the Labour Force Survey for British Columbia published by Statistics Canada each year;
- current = the most recent 5 calendar years completed before April 1 of the year
- 5-year period for which the AUHW figure is computed.

Employment or AHW not listed

- 49 If an employment is not listed in Table 1 in the Schedule or where Table 2 does not give an AHW for the occupation to which the determined employment belongs, the corporation may determine the average full-time weekly hours worked for that employment using the National Occupational Classification and the tables as a guide.

Labour force survey data unavailable

- 50 In any year in which Statistics Canada does not publish a new Labour Force Survey for British Columbia, the corporation may revise and adjust the AHW levels in accordance with any statistical index or other publication that provides information similar to, or comparable with, that provided by the Labour Force Survey.
